

Ben Lusk

February 6, 2025

Ben was a 12 year old beautiful lab mix. His favorite treat we had a treat container and he loved any of all treats that were in there. He lived for his treats & always got plenty because he was such a good boy. Favorite things to do: he loved to go for walks and he love to go bye-bye. He especially loved his name if you said his name, his tail would practically wag off of his body. Favorite Memory: while every single memory we have is so precious our favorite one by far is how Ben would demand his treats. The treats were in a container on top of a mini fridge and he would take his front paw and hit the side of the mini fridge, bark, wag his tail and jump up & down until one of us would go over and give him one. We honestly could hardly sit in the kitchen because as long as you were beside the treats, he was insistent on you giving him one. His constant barking drove us crazy but we all agree that we would give anything to hear him back one more time

Rest in Peace Ben
