Charley Blake Lewis 2/14/11-3/17/25

This has been a tough one. Charley was everyone's favorite dog of the bunch. He wasn't your typical chihuahua. He liked everyone. He was diagnosed with Cushings approximately 5 years ago and became a diabetic after that. The vet and I fought a good fight and tried everything. He actually lived longer than most do. He even wore a sensor so I could check his glucose. It was the best thing. He loved all dogs and cats. He wanted to rub on all of them whether they liked it or not. His favorite thing to do was to sit as close to me as he could and of course he liked to bark. I will miss him always but thankful I met him when he was 2. He belonged to my late husband. I hope to see him over the rainbow bridge.

I know he'll be waiting. 💔

Rest In Peace Charley
