In Loving Memory of Hoss 08/10/10-04/05/25

Hoss was a Jack Russell, he was 14 years, 7 months and 26 days old when we lost him to cancer. He was with us from the day he was born, the biggest pup in the litter. That's how he got his name. He was the bestest boy!

He was the biggest Momma's boy ever, had to be wherever I was. He loved to cuddle on the couch but had to be under a blanket, no matter how warm the weather was, he had to be covered up. He really wasn't in to toys too much anymore, but he loved his sister, Roxy. If he wasn't cuddling with mom, he was laying with her, they were the best of friends and litter mates. His favorite treats were milk bones, scrambled eggs and peanut butter. Last fall, right after we found out about the cancer, we took them to the beach for the first time. He really enjoyed that trip, except for having to wear shoes because of the sand burrs. He loved the ocean but really enjoyed riding the pontoon boat. I really miss seeing his little face in the window watching for me to come home from work. He was always the first one at the door to greet me.

Rest easy sweet boy! I know you are pain free now and reunited with Beanie and Max. Mommy, Daddy and Roxy love you and miss you so much!

Rest In Peace Hoss
