

Sheldon Gibbs

May 27, 2025

Sheldon, aka Shelly, Shelosaurus, the furry Bup, Rumpleshelskin and so many more, crossed the rainbow bridge to meet Sook at approximately 16 years old today. Sheldon was not one for fuss or cuddles. He was a constant, quiet, and comforting presence and a full time angsty boy and part time diplocat. Sheldon loved biscuits, looking out the window, catnip, his recliner, and served as Chief Thanksgiving Officer. We'll miss so many things-his white belly (that I couldn't help but touch even though it made him mad), his Cadbury egg-colored mouth and nose, and the quiet strenght he gave us without ever needing to say a word. Thank you, Shelly, for your years of loyal companionship. You were and always will be so very loved.

Rest in Peace Sheldon
